December

This month
The December birth flowers are holly and narcissus (paperwhite). Christians adopted the holly tradition from Druid, Celtic and Roman traditions, and its symbolism changed to reflect Christian beliefs. Narcissus is a genus of predominantly spring perennial plants, and is commonly referred to as a daffodil (pictured).

December has four birthstones – Turquoise (colour in heading) tanzanite, topaz, and Zircon. The zodiac signs are Sagittarius (December 1-21) and Capricorn (December 22-31).

Christmas Day
Christmas, of course, is a celebration of the birth of Christ, but there is no mention of the actual day he was born. It wasn’t chosen as the official holiday on December 25 until the third century, and some argue that the date was picked because it coincided with the pagan festival of Saturnalia, celebrating agricultural god Saturn with partying and gift-giving. Historians believe Christ was actually born in the spring.

There is a saying that when writing this special day as ‘Xmas’ it removes Christ from Christmas. Maybe not. Some claim that as far back as 1100 the word ‘Christianity’ was spelled Xianity. Also, X, or Chi, in Greek is the first letter of ‘Christ’ and served as a symbolic stand-in. In 1551, the holiday was Xtemmas but was eventually shortened to Xmas.

If you want to impress at the Christmas lunch table rattle off the names of the eight reindeer that pulled Santa Claus’ sleigh the night before because most people don’t know them all – Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Dunder (variously spelled Donder and Donner) and Blixem (variously spelled Blixen and Blitzen) and Rudolph.

It was 80 years ago this year that Robert L. May, a copywriter, first invented Rudolph, the oddball reindeer, as a marketing gimmick for Montgomery Ward’s holiday colouring books (pictured). May considered naming the beloved misfit Reginald and Rollo, and his nose wasn’t originally going to be red because this was viewed as a sign of sign of chronic alcoholism.

This Christmas also marks the 200th anniversary of the first image of Santa flying his sleigh, created by Washington Irving, who also gave us the Headless Horseman in his book The Legend of Sleepy Hollow.

Finally, we can reveal where you may find Santa Claus all year round. It’s the name of a village resort on the west coast of India. We ask: Does the concierge at the resort say to the guests: “Ho, ho hope you have a nice day”?

Decembeard

Just a thought... Santa has to be a man. No woman would wear the same outfit year after year.
Imagine this... 25 or more Father Christmases running through the streets of Victor Harbor. Of course, the REAL Father Christmas is not quite fit enough to be part of this having an insatiable desire for Christmas mince pies. The run will be done by members of our local Fleurieu Outdoor Activity Management (FOAM) team dressed in make-believe Santa suits adding a very new meaning to a fun run when they follow the route of the Victor Harbor Pageant on Saturday, December 8. FOAM has for the past four years organised the popular Powerbar Fun Run Series which inspired the start of Victor Harbor parkrun. This time they will all set off 15 minutes before the official 5.30pm opening of the pageant much to the cheers and delight of families lining the streets. The Victor Harbor Pageant is being presented by the Rotary clubs of both Victor Harbor and Encounter Bay, and promises to be the best yet. The Community Carols will start following the pageant in Grosvenor Gardens, and children will get the chance to meet Santa in the rotunda. Adding to this fabulous family event will be market and food stalls. Of course, Father Christmas cannot do everything, and leading up to Christmas children will be able to search for one of his helpers, Albert the Elf. He will be in local shops and businesses along the Ocean Street, Victor Harbor precinct leading up to the pageant. If children find Albert they may have their photo taken with him, post it on Facebook or Instagram with #ifoundalbert and have the chance to win some great prizes. More information may be found on the Victor Harbor Mainstreet Facebook page. Families may also visit Santa’s Cave in Sportspower on the Friday and Saturday, December 21-22 from 10am-1pm, and on the Sunday from 11am-2pm. Each child will receive a small free gift.

If Father Christmas wasn’t busy enough, he will also appear at Victor Central Shopping Centre from Wednesday, December 19 til Christmas Eve from 10.30am-1pm Mon-Sat and 11am-2pm Sunday. What an effort!

It's not just child's play

Visit a website for a swimming centre and you’re likely to find a focus on kids learning to swim and having fun. Of course, water safety at a young age is of paramount importance; one fatality is far too many.

Yet, more people aged 65 or older died by accidental drowning in Australia’s waterways last year than those in either the 0-14 or 15-24 age bracket. In fact, almost twice as many. Overall, 291 people drowned last year – nine more than the previous year, and amazingly 25 more than in 2015. There were also 685 near-drownings in 2017 that required hospitalisation.

The figures are alarming for those gracefully ageing, to say the least, and it has a lot to do with the fact that when they were young they didn’t have a state-wide learn to swim program in our schools; most taught themselves. A majority could only flounder their way to hold on to something at best. However, there is an old saying that you are never too old to learn, and fortunately it is happening at a rapidly increasing rate at the Fleurieu Aquatic Centre. Go there on any given day and the “grey fish” are either having swimming lessons or gaining much-lacking confidence in the water whilst doing aquarobics. And they’re loving it; having a great time just like the kids.

Even more remarkable is that some of the ‘oldies’ have transformed into capable swimmers for their age within a month, and been so enlightened by the experience they have joined the Great Southern Swimming Club, formed from the pool centres in Strathalbyn and Port Elliot/Victor Harbor and participate in Masters competitions. There are also those who have lived mostly in fear of going into the water; now they learn in their lane at their pace just for the sheer fitness and enjoyment of it all. Good on ‘em, we say.

Fleurieu Aquatic Centre manager James Lomax said there were numerous older people taking part in weekly swimming lessons. “Most of them never had lessons as children, and now this is all about confidence building and learning some stroke technique,” he said.

“Lessons for older people is not uncommon at any centre, but there seems to be more at the Fleurieu Aquatic centre because there has not been a public centre in the region before. We have 10-12 people a week who cannot actually swim but are having lessons. It is a lot, really, and there are a probably a number of others who participate in aquarobics and hydro therapy who cannot swim that well but they still have this water activity.

“Some older people may have felt self conscious about not being able to swim, but when they realised they were not alone they suddenly became keen to learn. We tend to give lessons during the middle of the day when generally there are fewer people there. “Learning to swim is for all ages, and we have a number of people who have actually progressed quite well. We have a group of six who have become quite capable swimmers, but still pay for lessons because they really enjoy the group. The social aspect of our centre cannot be under-estimated.”

American-born Karin Reddecliffe is vice-president of the Great Southern Swimming Club, teaches and coaches at the Fleurieu Aquatic Centre, and has been a life guard for 50 years. She firmly believes a research paper that says swimming is good for the brain. “The articles I have read recently show that to swim you have to concentrate so hard on what you are doing and so continuously that it is really good for maintaining mental acuity,” Karin said. “That is so important, especially as we age.”

Karin also believes learning to swim is not only about saving your own life and perhaps helping someone – maybe a grandchild – in distress, but reducing the risk of injury by using proper swimming techniques. Importantly, as a schoolteacher – after another life in computer science – she has worked with ‘damaged’ children and seen another value with learning to swim.

Karin’s immense satisfaction in seeing someone enjoy learning to swim and progress is evident when working with Robyn Carter, of Goolwa. On a Saturday morning Robyn admitted that a month earlier she couldn’t swim to save the life, and here she was cruising in lane three, backstroke and all. “Robyn could not swim more than 20 metres, no, not even that, probably only 10,” Karin said. “She couldn’t breathe whilst she was swimming. She was terrified of putting her face in the water and getting enough air. “Robyn’s improvement is not an isolated case... we have others who have also progressed so well. Some have discovered they love swimming so much they have wanted to try competing in Masters events at their age level and ability.

“There are so many competing in Masters now who came from an era whereby they didn’t have school swimming lessons and were never taught.

“The nice thing with Masters is that you only train when you can... it’s a drop-in sort of thing. I say it’s for adults 18 til death. To me swimming is all about technique and fitness, and if you wish to compete you can.

“There are five of us who compete in Masters events, and we did extremely well at the state short course championship in August when we had four of us swimming and coming away with six medals each. That was great, but it was simply the swimming and having a wonderful time that made it special. “People have this conception that Masters in all sports is for competing, but that is such a tiny portion of it. Friendship, you meet people, fitness and having fun, that’s what we are after.”

Karin admires people who believe in that theory about being never too old to learn. “If you sit home watching the telly your brain will go to sleep and for some it will never wake up,” she says.

“When I swim first thing in the morning it sets her up energy wise for the entire day,” Karin said. “I feel so invigorated; it’s fabulous.”

As they say in the slow lane, to help avoid a stroke, do the backstroke.

Our Fleurieu Peninsula, particularly Goolwa, will beam from the bright theatre lights when the director and cast of the remaking of Colin Thiele’s beautiful and classic tale Storm Boy walk the red carpet for a special screening at Victa Cinemas on January 7.

Not entirely the glitz of Tinsel Town, or even the expected glamour sprawling across a Sydney walkway as it hits the screens nationally on January 17, but nonetheless a significant moment for Australia’s movie industry. Definitely exciting for our locals, who in no small way contributed. Stars the lot of them.

But like the gripping end to a Coen brothers thriller, behind the scenes were a bunch of eight or 10 ordinary blokes who worked amazing hours in a tin shed racing against time to complete one of crucial elements of this contemporary classic – the wooden boat.

They are the men of the Armfield Slipway & Boatshed on the bank of the mighty Murray at Goolwa, who between them did a Tom Cruise – completing what seemed at the time a mission impossible.

Leading this team, under the direction of Armfield chairman Garry Coombes, was Bob Jennings, a motoring writer of national acclaim, whom has been living his passion for wooden boats this past decade.

“When we heard there was going to be a sequel to the 1976 movie Storm Boy we got in touch with the South Australian Film Corporation to let them know we had the original boat in the first movie and it was restored in good, running order,” Bob said.

“They contacted the film unit in Sydney, who flew over and had a look, but decided it wasn’t suitable; they needed a sea-faring boat. After a exhausting search they found one suitable on Kangaroo Island and bought it off a bloke who had restored it and used the boat for pleasure.

“They showed us pictures of the boat and...
“They came with mission brown paint, wire brushes, knives, and put mud from the river into a pressure container and sprayed it over the boat to make it look old and knocked around.”
– Bob Jennings

asked if we could put a cabin on it; turn it into a 1950s fishing boat. We came up with a concept that Garry photoshopped onto one of the images they had sent, and they liked the style. They asked us to built it.

“They delivered the boat to us from Kangaroo Island, and said we had two weeks for us to do everything. Two weeks. We had eight or 10 of us, all volunteers, working on different aspects of it for incredibly long hours for six days a week, and we got it done.

“We had it undercoated and all. The boat looked very smart. The Film Corporation people then sent down people with a pelicans that was being trained, and stuck it on top to make sure the proportions were all okay.

“They also sent their props people in to make all of our brand new work look old and battered. They came with mission brown paint, wire brushes, knives, and put mud from the river into a pressure container and sprayed it over the boat to make it look knocked around.

“It didn't stop there. They wanted details changed; the authenticity they asked for was incredible. I really admired them for that. There were ordinary plastic cleats on the back which you use for mooring, and they asked us to make some wooden ones, so we did. They took out the original floorboards which were in good nick and got some old housing floorboards which were rough as guts, chopped them up and put them in.

“The throttle on the engine had a single leaver control made from plastic so we had to take it off and make one especially with a metal lever. The stainless steel trimmings had to be taken off. The portholes in the cabin were sourced from Queensland and had to be also roughened to look old.

“The filmakers took the boat to Port Noarlunga for one of the ocean scenes, and we had to put out-of-sight anchoring points below the water line on the boat so it could be moored in the ocean and not drift away.

“The screws. Even the screws had to be changed; they had to be slot head screws and not a Phillips head which were not made in those days.

“There was not a name on the original boat in the movie, but it was referred to as HideAway. I guess this one will be known as HideAway II.

“When the film crews finished filming – they were so good to us right throughout and the paid Armfield – they asked us if we wanted the boat. I suppose it was because we had the boat from the original film and we had looked after that. The answer was obvious.

“We will preserve the boat in a knocked-about condition until after the film launch and the Wooden Boat Festival (April 27-28). We will re-do some of the paint work that is peeling and has been deliberately wiped off, otherwise it will deteriorate. It will be still kept as it is now in terms of style and character.”

A lot of work had obviously gone into the movie, and those at the boatshed should also be proud of their effort. According to Bob, he blokes here at Armfield Slipway & Boatshed always put in, and on this special project people like Alan Edwards, the wrangler for the boat on set, Ron Bastik, who did all the working drawings, and hard working people including Peter Shipside and Ted Beckett were terrific. A lot of blokes were, especially Bob himself. The driving force was their love for wooden boats, tarter up or not.

When asked whether he would be at the opening night at Victa Cinema Bob joked: “Sure will; a lot of us will be there. All eyes will be on the boat, bugger the rest of the film.”

And may the rest of us also take note whether the screws in HideAway II are slot headed or the Phillips head kind when the cameras flash on the scratched and dented timber work in a millionth of a second.

According to Bob, every moment working on this boat for a fabulous movie like Storm Boy was a thrill, and what made it special was the enormous respect between film crew and the men in the tin shed.

Bob joked again how the blokes met a real star – Mr Percival: “Angelina Jolie woud have been nice to meet, but the blokes settled for a pelican.” That’s show business.

The public is invited to a special Storm Boy Red Carpet event at Victa Cinemas, Ocean Street, Victor Harbor, on Monday, January 7 at 6.15pm arrival for 6.30pm film.

It is a special advanced screening of the new Storm Boy film with introduction from the director and cast members.

All tickets $20 including drink and Fruchocs.

Help us support the Fleurieu community

Is your money helping you to give back to your local community? Everyone across the Fleurieu Peninsula, regardless of age, should be asking this and know that the Goolwa & District, Aldinga and Willunga Community Bank® branches with the addition of Victor Harbor have proudly reinvested over $450,000 in the past 11 years. This kind of achievement is only possible by the Fleurieu community choosing to bank with one of our Fleurieu Community Bank® branches… it is that simple! As we come to a close on 2018 and head into the festive season, it is timely to reflect on some of the fun we have had this year reinvesting 80% of our profits back into your community and the many activities we have been apart of, including:

- Willunga & Districts Lions: $4000 towards their new shed
- Goolwa Netball Club: $7500 towards their court upgrade
- Alexandrina Connect: ‘Give A Stitch” program - $10,000
- Cittaslow Goolwa “Smoke Off”: third place in the smoked ham division
- Fleurieu Folk Festival: $4000
- Willunga Tennis Club: $3300 for an automated court booking system
- Sellicks CFS: $2500 for a defibrillator, and
- Goolwa Aquatic Club: $500 sponsorship.

November also saw the completion of the second year of the Fleurieu Future Leaders Program with another 20 graduates from across the Fleurieu. This leadership and personal development program, supported in conjunction with Face the World, has already had a significant impact on our region and applications for next year’s program are already open – visit: www.fleurieuleaders.com.au. We are also delighted to continue our sponsorship of the Fleurieu Future Leaders Program for another two years at $10,000.

In the past 12 months across the Fleurieu we have reinvested more than $86,000 to local groups, clubs and events. This is all made possible by those that choose Bendigo Community Bank® as their bank of choice.

Are you 50 or older, familiar with My Aged Care, or have lived experiences of the My Aged Care systems?

COTA SA is seeking to train and support a volunteer Aged Care Peer Champion based in the Alexandrina Council area. Peer Champions offer one-on-one support to seniors living independently to help them understand and navigate the My Aged Care systems. They also run small group sessions expanding on the successful COTA SA My Aged Care Support Program in regional South Australia.

If you would like to find out more please contact COTA SA on (08) 8232 0422 or cotasa@cotasa.org.au

More information about the My Aged Care Support Program is available at www.cotasa.org.au/programs

COTA SA gratefully acknowledges the financial and other support from County SA PHN and the Australian Government Department of Health

COTA SA expands support program

The Council on the Ageing SA is extending its significant program to the Alexandrina Council region. COTA SA is the peak body for 633,000 older people in South Australia. It provides a platform to ensure that older South Australians are part of decision-making by government and industry on everything from income and employment to housing and health. COTA SA also offers many services and programs for older people.

As part of the expansion of help with the My Aged Care Support program, COTA SA is seeking a person living within the Alexandrina Council area who is 50 years or older to become a volunteer Aged Care Peer Champion. The organisation is also needs someone within the Yankalilla area.

The My Aged Care Support program is a free, local and impartial service that uniquely provides support to older people on a one-to-one basis either over the phone or in person. Current Peer Champions have successfully supported many older people living independently and their families to help understand, navigate and engage with My Aged Care.

Volunteer Peer Champions in Victor Harbor, Murray Bridge, Mannum, Kadina and Port Pirie have shared positives of their role including an ability to help people who otherwise may just struggle with My Aged Care in isolation, and been well received in the community.

The community has also responded with feedback including the value of Peer Champion support for people who do not use a computer, and providing clearer direction on the My Aged Care program.

If you would like further information about becoming a Peer Champion please respond to the COTA SA advertisement on this page. For those seeking support with My Aged Care, COTA SA will be promoting the service as it recruits for the Peer Champion program. You may also call Marilyn Henderson, an Aged Care Peer Champion based in the Victor Harbor area: 0456 390 059. Alternatively, contact My Aged Care directly on 1800 200 422 or visit: www.myagedcare.gov.au

Playgrounds
There are some great and safe as possible playgrounds across the Fleurieu, especially the Bristow Smith Reserve Nature Playground on Barrage Rd, Goolwa. Best of luck getting your children to leave the wooden boat and beach-like play areas. Great place for a picnic as you watch the birdlife on the River Murray.

Watch a movie
Victor Harbor is one of the few rural centres which still has its original movie theatre. It’s Victa Cinema is located in Ocean St, and the facilities are very good – all with the character of an old-time theatre. And if you go at night, the whole theatre is lit up on the front with a laser show. They always have the latest movie releases here. Coast Lines has a comprehensive guide in this issue, but visit the website for session times: www.victacinemas.com.au

Wallis Cinemas at Noarlunga

Strathalbyn antiques
Like McLaren Vale, Strathalbyn is a gateway to the Fleurieu region and among many things this beautiful, friendly town is known throughout Australia as being the “antique capital”. Stroll through the clean and wide streets on a history trail and discover something special in every shop. You will need extra time in the bakeries, and you must visit the Garage Motorcycles shop.

Try something special with your camera
This magnificent image (above) of Green Bay at Port Elliot was taken by Ron Langman of The Strand Gallery, Port Elliot. Here are his technical tips on shooting a panorama:

- Do not use the ‘panorama’ function in your camera if you want a high quality image. The file will be too small. The print in the gallery is 3800 mm wide and sharp all over because it is a compilation of seven shots. Use a tripod and make sure that the vertical shaft is perpendicular.
- Paradoxically, tip the camera on its side (portrait format) and take enough images to overlap each other by, say, 30%.
- Set the ISO as low as your camera allows. Set the camera to ‘aperture priority’ to determine the shutter speed at f11. (f11 will give you enough depth of field and produce the sharpest result). Then set that exposure with the camera set to ‘manual’ for aperture and shutter speed. If you do not do this the camera will change exposure and maybe focus in each shot.
- Turn off ‘auto focus’ and select ‘manual focus’.
- Load all the images into your preferred image processor and ‘photomerge’. This will give you an irregular edge, but if you shot in ‘portrait’ format you will have enough sky and foreground to crop.

Charter boat fishing
For reliability and value, you cannot go past Pirate’s Sea Charters (see advert this section).

Go fishing
There are some great fishing spots right around the coast and along the Murray River waterways. Go to Waitpinga and Parsons Beach for salmon and mulloway, to Cape Jervis and Rapid Bay for tommy ruffs and squid, the No.19 Beacon on Barrage Rd, Goolwa for bream, mullet and school mulloway, Horseshoe Bay, Port Elliot for mulloway, snapper, squid, whiting and flathead or to Victor Harbor causeway or jetty for a host of fish including bream and garfish. Get your supplies at Tonkins Sport Store in Ocean St or the Liberty petrol station in Victor Harbor. Go to the nearest tourist information centre for a map of some of the best fishing spots. Best of luck!

Go for a walk
There are some magnificent walking trails right across the Fleurieu Peninsula. Contact the respective tourist information centres for a guide and further information. And be sun smart and take a bottle of water. Here are a few ideas...

Climb The Bluff: Explore the Bluff by walking the 800m Rosetta Trail to the top of the Bluff, the most visible sight of Victor Harbor. A dog and child-friendly walk, explore the beaches and headlands between Petrel Cove and Kings Beach (dangerous swimming area). Understand the landscape, geology and European and Aboriginal history through the interpretive signage along the trail. Extend this walk by starting in central Victor Harbor, or Kent Reserve near central Victor Harbor, or walk further along the Heysen Trail to Waitpinga Cliffs.

Inman River Walk: An easy 8km stroll starting at Kent Reserve, Victor Harbor and following the banks of the Inman River. It traverses through natural bushland, and although the path is mowed good walking shoes are recommended – and be alert for snakes. Carry at least 1lt of water per person.

Alexandrina Bird Trails: Grab a map from the Goolwa Visitor Information Centre and walk through some spectacular bushland and see an incredible number of bird species (no pets please).

Enjoy the beaches
There are some spectacular beaches along our coastline, but some can also be dangerous with the rips. Make sure you swim where lifesavers are in attendance, and between the yellow flags. The Goolwa Beach is stunning with its crashing waves, while by the beach at Second Valley on the western Fleurieu region is much calmer and absolutely beautiful – worth visiting.

Myponga Beach is in a small cove with spectacular views. Excellent swimming area. Rapid Bay jetty dive is said to be the best jetty dive in Australia. You can expect a large range of fish and marine life including the leafy sea dragon.

Visit the art galleries
Goolwa has a host of art galleries and there are always exhibitions, but a great place to see a stunning cross-section of art and gifts from across the region is at Artworx Gallery & Gifts at 12 Hays St, Goolwa. Gallery owners John & Liz Francis always have new pieces on display in the gallery; very impressive and well priced. Open most times, but check the website: artworxgallery.com.au T: 8555 0949. Also visit Art@Goolwa in Porter St, Goolwa which always has a great display of talent across the Fleurieu. Open seven days 11am-4pm.

The Strand Gallery, 41 The Strand, Port Elliot. Has superb exhibitions by internationally acclaimed local artists, and exceptional works by gallery owners Ron Langman with his amazing photography skills and his wife Sonya Hender with her exquisite printmaking. The new dining facility also makes it a unique experience. M: 0419 501 648. www.strandgallery.com.au

Open the cellar doors...
There are almost 100 cellar doors across the McLaren Vale wine region. Call the McLaren Vale Grape Wine & Tourism Association on 8323 9944 or visit: https://mclarenvale.info/

Internationally acclaimed wineries are spread across McLaren Vale and McLaren Flat, and leading into the beautiful and historic almond region of Willunga. Visit the most impressive tourist information centre on the main road, just off South Road, for a complete guide. Among the special places is the outstanding Doc Adams Wines, which won an award for its cellar door. Try the J&J organic wines cellar door in Rivers Lane, McLaren Vale, Hastwell & Lightfoot, and Hugo Wines at McLaren Flat - all of the cellar doors are inviting.

... the Langhorne Creek wine region is also magnificent: www.langhornecreek.com/about-langhorne-creek
It's one of the great regions in South Australia where eight wineries produce some of the finest wines along the trail just south of Strathalbyn and 30km from Goolwa. Perfect for afternoon day-trippers; call through Clayton Bay and Milang and see the spectacular water life on the way to this region, and you must call into Newman's Horseradish farm and winery. Each winery is special, but don't miss Lake Breeze on Step Rd, Langhorne Creek, and have a bite to eat at The Winehouse, Langhorne Creek Rd. www.langhornecreek.com

H - Coast Lines & Wine Coast Lines holiday guide
Get set for fun, action this summer

There's a lot happening across the Fleurieu Peninsula this summer, and here are just a few of the events... enjoy!

Tour Down Under is coming here

The Fleurieu Peninsula will dominate the attention from a worldwide television audience with two stages of the 2019 Santos Tour Down Under – including the finish at Willunga on Sunday, January 20. The Women’s TDU will be from January 10-13, with the men’s event from January 15-20. Stage 5 on Saturday, January 19 will see the international riders tested by leg-burning climbs and treated to coastal views as the peloton makes its way from Glenelg, along the Southern Expressway to Myponga before veering east to Victor Harbor, Port Elliot, Middleton and Goolwa before climbing into the hills for the finish in Strathalbyn.

The Subaru King of the Mountain is on Main South Road, Sellicks Hill (estimated time of arrival 12.53pm), and the Ziptrak sprints at Main South Road, Myponga (12.58pm), Inman Valley Road, Inman Valley (1.38pm), and Armstrong Road, Victor Harbor (2.06pm).

The Be Seen Be Safe MAC Stage 6 on the final day, Sunday, January 20 is being promoted as the ‘King’ stage where the final winner of the Santos Ochre Jersey will be decided. The stage will start in McLaren Vale, and end in the Main Road, Willunga (at Kell Street) with an estimated arrival at 1:19pm. Key points are: Subaru King of the Mountain #1: Brookman Road, Willunga Hill (2:24pm); Subaru King of the Mountain #2: Brookman Road, Willunga Hill (2:58pm); Sprint #1: The Esplanade, Snapper Point (12:46pm); Sprint #2: The Esplanade, Snapper Point (1:46pm).

Mount Compass Cup – January 26

They say it’s one of our wackiest events – grown men having a cow race, and what other day would you hold the event than Australia Day, January 26?

Since 1973 they have presented this great family fun day at the Mount Compass Oval, and spectators of all ages are invited to get involved in some of the most unusual events. Try your hand at milk handling, maybe the senior or junior rubber boot marathon, the Aussie thong throw or the junior milk bomb challenge. There’s also the SA draught horse challenge just to add a touch of serious entertainment, or you can admire the chrome at the ute show. The big event is the Compass Cup at 5pm.

Gates open at 11am. Tickets are just $9 14 years and over, and under 14 it’s a gold coin donation with all proceeds going to community groups. This classic day ends with music from 6.30pm. Visit: compasscup.com.au

Yesterday’s Power Rally, Milang Jan. 19-20
It’s like a graveyard for classic tractors and machinery from all over the world – the 23rd annual Yesterday’s Power Rally at the Milang Oval on the weekend of January 19-20 from 10am. The Milang & District Historical Society will display more than 300 items from our past including motorbikes, engines, vintage and classic cars, tractors and fire engines.

Victor Harbor trots Dec. 30 & Jan 14
The action is back on this summer at the Victor Harbor Harness Racing Club’s headquarters at Morgan Park, off Welch Road (or Ring Road) – a twilight meeting on Sunday, December 30 and a day meeting on Saturday, January 14. The club has one of the best tracks in the state and excellent facilities, and is a great day for the family. Check TAB guides for fields and starting times. Visit: www.victorharborharnessracingclub.com.au

The aim of the Futoshiki puzzle is to fit the numbers 1 to 5 into the 5x5 grid, so that every row and column contains every number only once. You also have to satisfy the less than (<) and greater than (>) signs. A less-than sign, <, means that the number it points at must be less than the number on the other side of the sign. Turned around the other way it becomes a greater-than sign, >, but the logic is still the same - the number it points at is smaller than the number on its other side. By paying attention to these inequality signs, some of the possibilities from the squares can be eliminated. Each Futoshiki puzzle has only one solution.

Italian-style Roasted Vegetables

Ingredients
- 6 garlic cloves, peeled
- 1 red onion
- 2 red capsicum
- 1 fennel bulb
- 4 medium zucchini, trimmed and cut into 5cm lengths
- salt & pepper to season

¾ cup good quality olive oil
500g truss cherry tomatoes
¼ cup flat-leaf parsley leaves, roughly chopped
2 teaspoons finely grated lemon peel

Method
Preheat oven to 180°C. Peel the red onion; cut capsicum in halves and remove seeds; trim fennel bulb; then cut all into thick wedges, lengthways. Trim ends from zucchini and cut into 5cm lengths.
Place garlic, onion, capsicum, fennel and zucchini in a single layer in a large roasting pan. Season with salt and pepper. Drizzle olive oil over the top of the vegetables, and toss to coat.
Roast vegetable or 30 minutes, turning half-way. After the 30 minute roasting period, add tomatoes to the pan and roast for a further 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Remove from oven.

Shortbread Biscuits

Ingredients
- 180g butter, softened
- ½ cup pure icing sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1½ tablespoons milk
- 1⅔ cups plain flour
- 2 level tablespoons cornflour
- 2 tablespoons shelled pistachio nuts, chopped finely (optional)

Method
Preheat oven to 180°C. Line a baking tray with baking paper. Using an electric mixer, beat softened butter, sifted icing sugar and vanilla in a bowl with until light and fluffy. Add milk, beat until combined. Add sifted flours; beat on low speed until just combined. Using clean hands, bring mixture together to form a soft dough. Refrigerate dough for about 15 minutes or until firm enough to roll. Place dough between two sheets of greasproof paper and roll out to 1cm thickness. Cut into shapes with biscuit cutter and place on prepared tray, leaving a little room for spreading. (Alternatively dough can be shaped into a round log, and cut into 1cm thick biscuit rounds). Sprinkle each shape with chopped pistachio nuts, and using the back of a teaspoon, lightly press the nuts into the dough.
Bake at 160°C for about 15-20 minutes or until a pale straw colour. Remove from oven and leave on tray for a few minutes before transferring to a wire rack to cool. Biscuits can be dusted with a little icing sugar if desired. Makes 24.
EGGNOG

Panna Cotta with Cranberry Compote

Ingredients
4 egg yolks
½ cup caster sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¾ level teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup + ½ cup full cream milk
300mls double cream
1 level tablespoon gelatine powder
1 tablespoon brandy or dark rum (optional)
extra nutmeg for sprinkling

Method
Using an electric mixer beat egg yolks in a large bowl, until combined. Add sugar gradually, beating after each addition. Continue beating until mixture thickens and turns pale yellow. Reduce speed to low and add 2/3 cup of milk, double cream, vanilla and nutmeg. Mix on low until combined. Set aside.

Place the remaining 1/2 cup milk and gelatine in a large saucepan. Whisk to combine, then place on medium heat and continue whisking until milk has warmed and gelatine has dissolved, making sure the milk does not boil. Once gelatine has dissolved, add the eggnog mixture and continue whisking until it reaches simmering point - just before it starts to bubble. Remove immediately from the heat and using a fine mesh strainer, strain mixture into a heatproof container and allow to cool.

Transfer mixture into a pouring jug. If using optional brandy or dark rum, add to the mixture now and whisk gently. Divide mixture evenly into glass serving bowls/glasses, or ramekins. Refrigerate for a minimum of 3 hours, or until set. Serves 6-8, depending on serving bowl size. Sprinkle with extra nutmeg, and serve with Cranberry Compote.

Note: Recipe can be made with or without brandy/rum, and can be served on its own; with Cranberry Compote; or with fresh fruit e.g. raspberries, strawberries, blueberries, or kiwi fruit.

Cranberry Compote

Ingredients
2 cups frozen cranberries
½ cup caster sugar
¼ cup fresh orange juice

Method
Combine sugar, orange juice, and cranberries in a large saucepan over medium heat. Stir until sugar has dissolved. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring frequently. Continue simmering and stirring over low heat, until most of the cranberries have popped and mixture has thickened (about 5-7 minutes). Remove from heat and allow to cool. Cover and refrigerate. Will keep in refrigerator for about 5 days.

Mr G. Coombes
Chairman
South Australian Wooden Boat Festival

Dear Garry,

Thank you for your time today re: the 2019 South Australian Wooden Boat Festival, and an advertising/marketing strategy. Coast Lines is published by myself and my wife, Jenny, trading as Oscar Publications (ABN 36 199 338 125).

We currently distribute 5000 copies of Coast Lines to 134 outlets across the Fleurieu Peninsula, from Strathalbyn, Langhorne Creek, Milang, Goolwa to Victor Harbor, Cape Jervis, Normanville, Yankalilla, Myponga, and Mount Compass. We have the widest and biggest distribution of any Fleurieu publication.

May I suggest these options (all prices inc. GST):

1. The normal rate for a full page advertisement is $694. SAWBF purchase two pages at $638 each – total $1276 – per edition from December-April. Five editions: $6380. The SAWBF will “own” these pages meaning it has the right to place advertising on them. Suggest 4 x quarter-page adverts (valued at $295 each) offered to lure key sponsors – potentially 20 sponsor spots could be covered over the five months, or you may wish to give the space to, say four sponsors. You may sell them and keep the money. The value or income is $1176 per edition. In other words, if you received the income the shortfall for the SAWBF would be $100 for two full page adverts per edition – and you get the equivalent of a full page editorial written by myself and subject to your approval. Please note: we could design the advertisements at no additional cost if required.
2. Repeat everything above in our other publication Wine Coast Lines (launched in November, 2019) covering Aldinga, Seaford, Noarlunga, Christies Beach, McLaren Vale, McLaren Flat and Willunga). By January, this will represent a total distribution of both publications of 10,000.

3. Buy one full-page editorial space at $550 for five editions Dec-April; total $2750. No advertising on these pages.

In addition to these options, at no extra cost we would promote the SAWBF on at least one front cover, and if option 2 is not chosen run at least one feature at no cost in our other publication, Wine Coast Lines. It would be in our best interest to promote the SAWBF as well as possible, and the equivalent one-page editorial space for each edition would be minimum coverage.

The key is that in all scenarios the SAWBF “owns” the content. The cost would cover editorial content – words and images. If your preference were to supply the editorial content our only stipulation would be to follow the Australian Style Manual to achieve consistency. No content would be changed without approval.

I strongly recommend that if you were to run editorial in Coast Lines it include December & January issues when more than 100,000 flock to this region on holidays and should know about the festival in April.

Thank you for any consideration.
